EUniWell for students

Who are we?

The European University for Well-Being, EUniWell, is an alliance working together on education and research in the field of well-being. The aim of EUniWell is to deliver a transformative student experience focused on skills development, societal impact, and a European learning journey. Join us and become a part of EUniWell!
Meet students from across Europe, explore new ideas and make a difference to communities across the continent.

How to get involved?

Students can participate through their university's local student representation or the international Student Board and contribute their innovative ideas. Undergraduate, master and doctoral students can also join EUniWell working groups, take part in various mobility and educational programmes and participate in EUniWell events.
